SenSen signs agreement with Chicago Parking Meters to digitize the curb

HIGHLIGHTS

- Chicago Parking Meters (CPM) signed a Master Services Agreement with SenSen to use its award-winning sensor AI technology to gather real time data from the curb space they manage in and around the City of Chicago.
- SenSen's contract from these vehicles mounted sensor AI systems, software and services are expected to exceed US$1 million in FY22. The multi-year contract is expected to generate additional revenues once the current systems are fully operationalised.
- This win, along with SenSen's other curbside management deployment in the USA and Singapore, will bolster SenSen's leadership and growth opportunities in a market estimated to be more than US$4 billion<sup>1</sup>

Leading sensor AI solution provider SenSen Networks Ltd (ASX:SNS, OTCQB:SNNSF) has entered into a contract with Chicago Parking Meters, LLC ("CPM") to assist them to digitize the curb space they manage in and around the City of Chicago using our patent pending sensor AI solutions.

CPM previously undertook a Proof of Concept (POC) trial of SenSen AI solutions, to evaluate a range of capabilities associated with collecting data about curb space and to validate the accuracy & reliability of the solutions.

Upon successful completion of the POC, SenSen has now entered into a contract with CPM to supply software and systems designed to collect real-time accurate data in and around the curb space they manage in the City of Chicago. The new, multi-year, Master Services
